

《A Brief History of Tea》雅思阅读真题系统分析

一、完整原文（证据句红色加粗 + Q 号标注）+ 段落翻译 + 出题人底层逻辑

Paragraph A

The story of tea began in ancient China over 5,000 years ago. According to legend, the Emperor Shen Nung was a skilled ruler, creative scientist and patron of the arts. His far-sighted edicts required, among other things, that all drinking water be boiled as a hygienic precaution. One summer day, while visiting a distant region of his realm, he and the court stopped to rest. In accordance with his ruling, the servants began to boil water for the court to drink. Dried leaves from a nearby bush fell into the boiling water, and as the leaves infused the water turned brown. As a scientist, the Emperor was intrigued by the new liquid, drank some, and found it very refreshing. And so, according to legend, tea was created. (Q1)

段落翻译

茶的历史始于 5000 多年前的古代中国。相传，神农帝是一位贤明的君主、富有创造力的科学家，同时也是艺术的赞助人（patron of the arts）。他富有远见的法令（far-sighted edicts）中，除其他内容外，要求所有饮用水必须煮沸，作为一项卫生预防措施（hygienic precaution）。一个夏日，他在巡视国土偏远地区时，与朝臣停下休息。根据他的规定，侍从们开始烧水供朝臣饮用。附近一丛灌木的干叶子（dried leaves）掉进了沸水里，叶子浸泡（infused）后，水变成了棕色。作为一名科学家，神农帝对这种新液体产生了好奇（intrigued），喝了一些后发现它非常提神（refreshing）。于是，根据传说，茶就这样诞生了。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人聚焦“茶的起源本质”，通过“Dried leaves fell into... Emperor... found it refreshing... tea was created”这一核心情节，设置“偶然发现”（A chance discovery）的标题考点。故意弱化“皇帝的多重身份”“煮沸水的法令背景”等次要信息，引导考生捕捉“意外事件促成茶诞生”的核心逻辑，考察对段落主旨而非细节的理解。

Paragraph B

Tea consumption spread throughout Chinese culture, reaching into every aspect of society. The first definitive book was written on tea – a book clearly reflecting Zen Buddhist philosophy – 1,200 years ago. The first tea seeds were brought to Japan by a returning Buddhist priest, who had seen the value of tea in enhancing meditation in China. As a result, he is known as the “Father of Tea” in Japan. Because of this early association, tea in Japan has always been linked with Zen Buddhism. (Q2) Tea received the Japanese Emperor’s support almost instantly and spread rapidly from the royal court and monasteries to other sections of society.

段落翻译

茶的消费（consumption）在中华文化中广泛传播，渗透到社会的方方面面。1200 年前，首部关于茶的权威著作（definitive book）问世——这本书清晰地体现了禅宗哲学（Zen Buddhist philosophy）。第一位将茶籽带回日本的是一位返乡的僧人（Buddhist priest），他在中国发现了茶对促进冥想（enhancing meditation）的价值。因此，他在日本被尊为“茶祖”。由于这种早期的关联（early association），茶在日本始终与禅宗（Zen Buddhism）紧密相连（be linked with）。茶很快得到了日本天皇的支持，并从皇室和寺院（monasteries）迅速传播到社会其他阶层。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人以“茶与宗教的关联”为核心考点，通过“Zen Buddhist philosophy”“Buddhist priest”“linked with Zen Buddhism”等高频宗教相关词汇，强化“茶与禅宗的绑定关系”。刻意避免在“茶在日本的传播速度”“天皇支持”等细节上设置干扰，引导考生识别“宗教是茶在日本传播的核心纽带”，考察对段落逻辑关系（因果：僧人带茶籽→茶与禅宗关联）的把握。

Paragraph C

Tea was elevated to an art form in the Japanese tea ceremony, in which supreme importance is given to making tea in the most perfect, most polite, most graceful, most charming manner possible. (Q3) Such a purity of expression prompted the creation of a particular form of architecture for tea houses, duplicating the simplicity of a forest cottage. The cultural/artistic hostesses of Japan, the geishas, began to specialise in the presentation of the tea ceremony. However, as more and more people became involved in the excitement surrounding tea, the purity of the original concept was lost, and for a period the tea ceremony became corrupted, boisterous and highly embellished. Efforts were then made to return to the earlier simplicity, with the result that, in the 15th and 16th centuries, tea was viewed as the ultimate gift. Even warlords paused for tea before battles.

段落翻译

在日本茶道（Japanese tea ceremony）中，茶被提升（elevated）为一种艺术形式——茶道要求以最完美、最礼貌、最优雅、最迷人的方式泡茶，这一点至关重要。这种纯粹的表达形式推动了茶室（tea houses）这一特定建筑形式的诞生，其设计模仿了森林小屋的简约风格（simplicity）。日本的文化艺术女性群体——艺伎（geishas），开始专门研习茶道的呈现方式（presentation of the tea ceremony）。然而，随着越来越多人沉迷于茶带来的热潮，茶道最初的纯粹理念（original concept）逐渐流失，有一段时间，茶道变得浮夸、喧闹（boisterous）且装饰过度（highly embellished）。随后，人们努力回归早期的简约风格，结果在 15 至 16 世纪，茶被视为至高无上的礼物（ultimate gift），甚至军阀（warlords）在开战前都会停下品茶。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人围绕“茶道的仪式化属性”设计考点，以“Japanese tea ceremony”为核心线索，通过“-perfect/polite/graceful manner”“specialise in the presentation”等描述“流程规范性”的词汇，凸显“泡茶即仪式”的本质。用“茶道的兴衰变化”（从纯粹到浮夸再到简约）作为干扰信息，考察考生能否穿透情节细节，锁定“茶道作为仪式化行为”的核心主旨，对应标题“Tea-making as a ritual”。

Paragraph D

While tea was at this high level of development in parts of Asia, information concerning the then-unknown beverage began to filter back to Europe. Earlier traders had mentioned it, but were unclear as to whether tea should be eaten or drunk. The first European to personally encounter tea and write about it was Portuguese – Portugal, with her technologically advanced navy, had been successful in gaining the first right of trade with China. (Q4)

段落翻译

当茶在亚洲部分地区发展到如此高的水平时，关于这种当时尚不为人知的饮品（then-unknown beverage）的信息开始传入（filter back to）欧洲。早期的商人曾提及过茶，但并不清楚茶应该吃还是喝。第一位亲身接触（personally encounter）茶并记录下它的欧洲人是葡萄牙人——葡萄牙凭借其技术先进的海军（technologically advanced navy），成功获得了与中国通商的优先权（first right of trade）。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人以“跨大洲信息传递”为考点，通过“filter back to Europe”“first European (Portuguese)”明确“茶的信息从亚洲传入欧洲”的核心事件。“葡萄牙海军优势”“商人对茶的困惑”均为背景细节，目的是干扰考生对“地点转移 (Asia→Europe)”和“事件本质 (information spread)”的判断，考察对“段落主旨 = 核心事件 (信息传播) + 空间范围 (跨大洲)”的提炼能力，对应标题“News of tea reaches another continent”。

Paragraph E

Tea finally arrived in Europe in the 16th century, brought to Holland by the country's navy, and became very fashionable in the Dutch capital, The Hague. This was due in part to tea being very expensive (over $100 per pound), which immediately made it the domain of the wealthy. (Q5) Slowly, as the amount of tea imported increased, the price fell, and by 1675 it was available in common food shops throughout Holland.

段落翻译

茶最终在 16 世纪传入欧洲，由荷兰海军带入，并在荷兰首都海牙迅速流行 (became very fashionable) 起来。其流行的部分原因 (due in part to) 是茶的价格极其昂贵 (very expensive)，每磅超过 100 美元，这使得它立刻成为富人的专属领域 (domain of the wealthy)。随着茶叶进口量 (amount of tea imported) 逐渐增加，价格慢慢下降，到 1675 年，荷兰各地的普通食品店 (common food shops) 都能买到茶了 (be available in)。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人聚焦“茶的初期社会定位”，通过“very expensive ($100 per pound)”“domain of the wealthy”直接指向“奢侈品”属性。“茶的普及过程 (价格下降、进入普通商店)”是后续发展，故意放在段落末尾制造干扰，考察考生能否识别“段落主旨优先呈现核心属性 (奢侈品)，再补充变化”的结构，对应标题“A luxury item”。

Paragraph F

As the consumption of tea increased dramatically in Dutch society, doctors and university authorities in Holland argued as to its benefits or drawbacks. The public largely ignored the scholarly debate and continued to enjoy their new beverage, though the controversy lasted from 1635 to roughly 1657. (Q6, Q9) Throughout this period, France and Holland led Europe in the use of tea.

段落翻译

随着茶在荷兰社会的消费量大幅增长（increased dramatically），荷兰的医生和大学当局（- university authorities）就茶的益处与弊端（benefits or drawbacks）展开了争论（argue as to）。- 尽管这场争议（controversy）从 1635 年持续到约 1657 年，但公众在很大程度上忽视了这场学术争论（scholarly debate），继续享用他们的新饮品。在此期间，法国和荷兰在欧洲的茶消费领域处于领先地位（led Europe in the use of tea）。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人设置双重考点：1. 段落标题匹配（Q6）：通过 “argued as to its benefits or drawbacks” “controversy” 锁定 “茶的利弊讨论”，对应标题 “Is tea a good or a bad thing?”；2. 国家配对（Q9）：通过 “doctors... argued... public ignored... continued to enjoy”，明确 “荷兰（Holland）” 是 “负面声音不影响茶流行” 的主体。故意用 “法国与荷兰领先” 模糊焦点，考察考生对 “细节与主体的绑定关系” （争论和公众反应均发生在荷兰）的识别。

Paragraph G

As the craze for all things oriental swept through Europe, tea became part of everyday life. Adding milk to the drink was first mentioned in 1680. Around that time, Dutch inns provided the first restaurant service of tea. Innkeepers would furnish guests with a portable tea set complete with a heating unit. The Dutchman would then prepare tea for himself and his friends outside in the inn garden. Tea remained popular in France for only about fifty years, being replaced by a preference for wine, chocolate and exotic coffees. Tea was introduced into England in 1660 by King Charles II and his Portuguese queen, who were both confirmed tea drinkers. Tea mania swept across England as it had earlier spread throughout France and Holland. By 1708, tea importation had risen to thirteen times the 1699 level. Tea was drunk by all levels of society. (Q7, Q10)

段落翻译

随着对所有东方事物的狂热（craze for all things oriental）席卷（swept through）欧洲，茶成为日常生活的一部分（part of everyday life）。1680 年，首次有记载提及在茶中加牛奶（adding milk to the drink）。大约在同一时期，荷兰的小旅馆（Dutch inns）开始提供首批茶的堂食服务（- first restaurant service of tea）。店主会为客人提供一套带加热装置的便携茶具（portable tea set complete with a heating unit）。客人随后可在旅馆花园里为自己和朋友泡茶。茶在法国的流行只持续了约 50 年，之后人们的偏好转向（being replaced by a preference for）葡萄酒、巧克力和异国咖啡（exotic coffees）。1660 年，查理二世国王和他的葡萄牙王后将茶引入英国（introduced into England）——两人都是公认的茶爱好者（confirmed tea drinkers）。茶狂热（tea mania）像之前席卷法国和荷兰一样，席卷了英国。到 1708 年，茶叶进口量（tea importation）已达到 1699 年的 13 倍，社会各阶层（all levels of society）都开始饮茶。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人设置双重考点：1. 段落标题匹配（Q7）：通过 “popular in France for only fifty years... replaced” “Tea mania swept across England”，呈现 “茶在法国衰落、在英国流行” 的时尚更替，对应标题 “In – and sometimes out – of fashion”；2. 国家配对（Q10）：通过 “Tea remained popular in France... being replaced by wine, chocolate and exotic coffees”，明确 “法国（France）” 是 “茶被其他饮品取代” 的主体。用 “荷兰堂食服务” “英国进口量增长” 等细节分散注意力，考察考生对 “不同国家茶流行趋势差异” 的精准区分。

Paragraph H

Russian interest in tea began as early as 1618, when the Chinese embassy in Moscow presented several chests of tea to the Emperor, Czar Alexis. Later in the century, a trade treaty between Russia and China allowed caravans to cross back and forth freely between the two countries. Still, the journey was not easy. The average caravan consisted of 200 to 300 camels, and the 18,000-kilometre trip took over 16 months to complete. (Q8, Q12) Eventually, however, tea became – as it still is – one of the most popular drinks in the country.

段落翻译

俄罗斯对茶的兴趣早在 1618 年就已产生，当时中国驻莫斯科大使馆向沙皇阿列克谢赠送了几箱茶（- presented several chests of tea）。该世纪后期，俄中签订的贸易条约（trade treaty）允许商队（caravans）在两国之间自由往返（cross back and forth freely）。然而，这段旅程并不轻松（the journey was not easy）：一支普通的商队由 200 至 300 头骆驼（camels）组成（consist of），这段 1.8 万公里的路程（18,000-kilometre trip）需要耗时 16 个月以上（took over 16 months）才能完成。但最终，茶还是成为了（且至今仍是）俄罗斯最受欢迎的饮品之一（one of the most popular drinks）。

出题人底层逻辑

出题人设置双重考点：1. 段落标题匹配（Q8）：通过 “journey was not easy” “200-300 camels” “18,000-kilometre” “over 16 months”，凸显 “俄罗斯进口茶的运输困难”，对应标题 “- Difficulties in importing tea”；2. 国家配对（Q12）：通过 “caravan consisted of 200 to 300 camels”，明确 “俄罗斯（Russia）” 是 “用动物（骆驼）进口茶” 的主体。用 “茶在俄罗斯的流行结果” 作为结尾干扰，考察考生对 “段落核心矛盾（运输困难）” 的捕捉能力。
